The Cheryl Newby Gallery in Pawleys Island, South Carolina, presents its Small Treasures exhibition, opening November 21 and running through December 12. A variety of media including oils, watercolors, acrylics, and bronze will be offered in this show that features smaller works by distinguished painters and sculptors. Paintings by Ray Ellis, Ellen Buselli, Mike Williams, Joseph Cave and Paula Holtzclaw will be exhibited, along with small bronze sculptures by Gwen Marcus and Catherine K. Ferrell.

"One of the small oils by Ray Ellis, Spring Tide, is a moonlit landscape; a favorite subject of the 88-year-old renowned artist," says gallery owner Cheryl Newby. "Buselli has won recognition from many prominent art groups, including signature membership in Oil Painters of America. Marcus is Fellow of the National Sculpture Society and a four-time recipient of the Gold Medal of Honor from the American Artist Professional League Inc."
